Postlethwaite & Netterville's Metairie location has been named one of the Top 50 Best Places to Work for 2007 by New Orleans CityBusiness.

The rankings are based on a survey of benefits offered, including average salary, healthcare, paid time off and employee programs. In addition to the benefits survey, CityBusiness conducted employee interviews on topics ranging from job satisfaction to perception of benefits.

Joey Richard, Managing Partner of the Metairie office, is pleased by the award. "P&N has a long-standing tradition of emphasizing employee satisfaction. Other than our clients, our employees are our number one priority, and this recognition illustrates our commitment to our people."

Hundreds of New Orleans businesses competed for a place among the Top 50 in the small business and large business categories. Small businesses have fewer than 50 employees, while large businesses have 50 or more employees. P&N was honored in the large business category. All honorees will be recognized at a luncheon on December 14. More information can be found at the following link.
